

- About Us
- Our Story
- Community
- How to Pack
- Contact Us
- How to Save
- Join Our Team
- Sign In

Sign In

E-mail

Enter the email address you registered with.

Password

Enter your password.

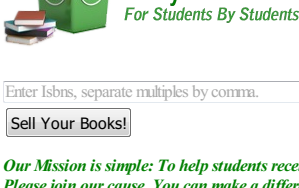

☐ Remember me?

Sign in

Enter Isbns, separate multiples by comma.

Sell Your Books!

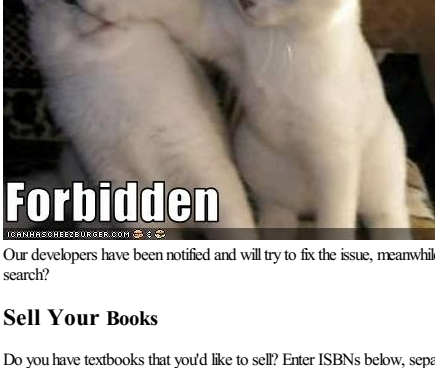

Enter Isbns, separate multiples by comma.

Sell Your Books!

Our Mission is simple: To help students receive the most affordable textbooks on the market. Please join our cause. You can make a difference.

403 Error

Our developers have been notified and will try to fix the issue, meanwhile - why don't you try another search?

Sell Your Books

Do you have textbooks that you'd like to sell? Enter ISBNs below, separate multiples by comma.

Enter Isbns, separate multiples by comma.

Get Started

Latest news?

Bitcoin: Friend or Foe

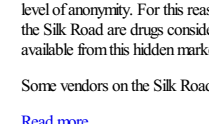

You have probably heard the term “bitcoin” in the news lately. So you know a bitcoin has something to do with online trading, but what is it? Should you start trading in your hard earned cash for bitcoins or pack those pennies under the mattress?

Bitcoins are a fairly new idea. In a paper written in 2008, the idea of bitcoins were introduced by Satoshi Nakamoto as an electronic system...

Read more...

The Silk Road Marketplace: The Bitcoin and Pirated Textbooks

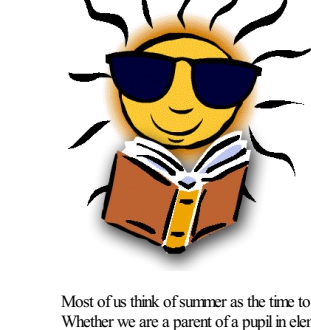

The Silk Road is a market primarily known for the sale of illegal drugs with a currency known as bitcoin. The bitcoins offer buyers and sellers a level of anonymity. For this reason, about 70% of the goods sold through the Silk Road are drugs considered contraband, but there are other items available from this hidden marketplace.

Some vendors on the Silk Road do offer legal items. Electronics, art, and...

Read more...

Spring into Next School Year with Summer Reading

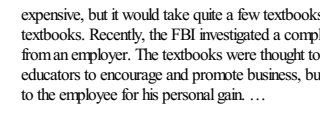

Most of us think of summer as the time to take a break from classes. Whether we are a parent of a pupil in elementary school or a student in college, we think about taking summers off. When you are the student, your mind starts wandering in the spring as the weather breaks. Visions of sandy beaches, trips to the lake, and amusement parks flood the mind. If you are

...

Read more...

FBI Investigation: Free Samples or Fraud

Everyone knows that textbooks can be very expensive, but it would take quite a few textbooks to total nearly $3,000,000.00 in stolen textbooks. Recently, the FBI investigated a complicated scheme to allegedly steal textbooks from an employer. The textbooks were thought to be “free samples” sent to professors and educators to encourage and promote business, but in reality, the textbooks were being shipped to the employee for his personal gain. ...

Read more...

Can Textbook Painting Help You Pay for College?

Some students have had parents who have saved for college tuition since their birth, other students help to fund their way through school with savings of their own or by working their way through school. With the cost of tuition increasing, it is becoming even more important to find additional options to help pay for room and board, tuition, textbooks, and the other expenses associated with a college education...

Read more...

Textbook Publisher Files Bankruptcy

As with any market, companies must flow with the changing interests of the people with the power. The purchaser is who dictates how things go for a company with the all-mighty dollar. Textbook publishers are finding themselves in a changing transition right now as the market makes some shifts from traditional textbooks to other areas of interest.

Publishers of textbooks have made some changes to their marketing strategies lately. ...

Read more...

Textbooks or Technology? When Budget Battles Occur

With the current economy, it seems everyone is tightening their budget in one way or another. We hear of signs about the economy regarding the improvement of the state of affairs and information about more and better jobs, but we are then bombarded with requests to cast our votes to support more money going into the budget from our tax payments to support schools.

What does all of this mean? ...

Read more...

Crash Instead of Cram: Study While You Sleep

The power of a good night's sleep or a nap has been widely studied and evaluated. Many people know that it is wise to get a good night's rest before a big test or exam and that it is easier to concentrate and focus on a task at hand when you have received adequate rest.

College students are known for pulling an all-nighter right before an important test and this ...

Read more...

Recycle A Book

Office(937) 439-4848
Fax(866) 224-1262
Email:info@RecycleABook.com
561 Congress Park Drive, Centerville, OH 45459
RecycleABook.com, INC © Copyright 2013

-
-